All-in-one solution integrates venue sourcing, travel booking, event management and spending analytics by centralizing the entire event lifecycle into one seamless experience.

Legacy event management relies on manual processes and patchwork tools, creating administrative friction and compliance challenges. Navan Events aims to solve these problems

"Navan makes life easier for our users so they can focus on being there versus getting there," said Galen Grady, SVP and GM of Navan Events. "Nothing replaces real, in-person connections, but planning and coordinating events can be a major time suck. Our customers want the same seamless experience for managing meetings as they do for all of their other needs. Enter Navan Events, which brings all those scattered pieces together in one place, whether you're planning a 10-person team offsite or a massive customer conference."

The platform delivers comprehensive capabilities:

- End-to-End Management: Integrates venue sourcing, hotel RFPs, attendee registration and travel management within a unified solution. Admins can track approval flows for budget forecasting and individual attendee travel spend.
- AI-Powered Planning: Features an intelligent event assistant to guide planners through sourcing and negotiations.
- Premium Service and Support: Provides direct access to Navan's specialized corporate meetings and events team for support with event sourcing, contract negotiations, or full service on-site management.

Navan Events is the next step in the evolution of Navan's advanced venue sourcing and planning capabilities, which were announced earlier this year.

Available in the U.S., UK, and European markets this week, with plans to launch in other markets soon, Navan Events will exhibit at The Business Travel Show 2026 on June 24-25 at Excel London.
